

Introducing our Communication Advocates

July 21, 2018

Hello!

We are communication advocates.

We work with Total Communication Services Community Interest Company (CIC). Our goal is to help people communicate and express themselves. We think being able to communicate is a basic human right. We want people to know about the Communication Bill of Rights.

We want to campaign to raise awareness of different ways of communicating.

To help us do this, we use tools, like communication passports and talking mats. To find out more about what we do, please read our blogs.

The Communication Advocates have said what being a part of Total Communication Services CIC means to them.

Gareth says it means: Giving people a voice by their chosen method of communication. Don't give up, if one method doesn't work, keep trying various forms.

Hayley

Hayley says:

Total Communication Services Communication Advocates group to me, is a support group that helps individuals to be able to communicate and express themselves with the use of tools and techniques effectively, improving people's confidence.

Steven

Steven:

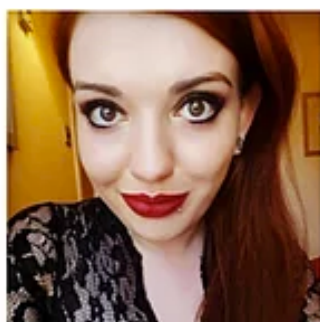

It is important to allow people to get their message across and make choices.

Chris

Chris says:

I like being a part of Total Communication Services CIC because I enjoy campaigning for communication and for peoples' human rights.

Emma

Emma says:

The ability to communicate is a human right that is often taken for granted until it is lost. Total Communication Services CIC gives people a voice by supporting them to find ways to express their thoughts and feelings in different ways.
